Dear whom it may concern

I would like to express my interest in the software internship at Bloomberg. Firstly my interest in Bloomberg stems from an appreciation that your company specialises in a broad range of businesses from finance to media companies. Being an intern with Bloomberg with its diverse portfolio, would enable me to expand and broaden my knowledge beyond computer science.

The second part of it is the fact that Bloomberg handles mathematics in several different areas. Ranging from the entity exchange dealing with financial transactions to the Bloomberg Terminal which provides statistical analysis. Since mathematics is a passion of mine I feel I would make a good fit with Bloomberg, as computational problem solving and analysis is something I enjoy greatly.

Thank you for any consideration you give my application,

Yours sincerely,

Kieran Grayshon
